

CAN YOU FIND THE EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICE IN YOUR SCHOOL LIBRARY?

A TRAINING MODULE PUBLISHED BY THE OHIO EDUCATIONAL LIBRARY MEDIA ASSOCIATION

What is Evidence-based Practice?

This professional development training module is the perfect tool for state library associations, regional libraries, and individual school districts to train school librarians on how to gather evidence about student learning and student achievement that occurs in school libraries.

Based on Student Learning through Ohio School Libraries and the work of Dr. Ross Todd, the module provides information for schools to conduct their own survey of students. It also offers a step-by-step inservice for school librarians on the importance of gathering the evidence of student learning in the library and how they can get started gathering evidence.

Contents of the Module:

- Key Concept 1--Evidence-based practice
 - What is evidence-based practice?
 - Why is it important?
- Key Concept 2--Ohio Study
 - Summary
 - Evidence
- Key Concept 3--Implementing the Toolkit
- Key Concept 4--Conclusions
 - Strategies for working with evidence
